PENINSULA

Monterrey, Nuevo León, México

Peninsula is a Mexico-based art rock band with Canadian and Mexican roots, creating atmospheric, emotionally textured music that moves between intimacy and intensity. Blending cinematic indie, ethereal wave, and post-pop influences, their sound combines layered guitars, evocative vocals, and immersive arrangements that translate into captivating live performances.

Their audiovisual project "Hilo Conector," released exclusively on YouTube in 2023, explores themes of connection through interdisciplinary collaboration, while their single "Propaganda" reached international audiences through animation festival screenings in Croatia (Supertoón International Animation Festival 2024), and the Czech Republic (Anifilm International Festival 2024), and featured in the trailer for the 2024 Silhouette International Festival in Paris, France, alongside bands Fontaines D.C. and Squid. Peninsula's latest album "Sin Resolución" (Without Resolution), released July 10, 2026, continues this trajectory, reflecting on uncertainty, inner conflict, and the search for meaning within contemporary life.

Following tours in Mexico, Canada and Japan, the band builds cross-cultural dialogue through independent music, connecting audiences across borders with a sound that is both introspective and expansive, balancing vulnerability with quiet strength and a sense of shared human experience.
